To The Nobility and Representatives of the 86th Annual Session of the Imperial Council, A. A. O. N. M. S.

Greetings:

Your officers are most happy to join not only with the Shriners, but with the thousands of loyal friends in Denver and the entire State of Colorado in extending to you all a most hearty and cordial welcome to this 86th Imperial Council Session. For more than two years our committees have worked diligently so that every possible comfort may be yours.

Coloradans are hospitable, friendly people--intensely proud of their beautiful state, and they urge that you see its glories before your departure.

Denver is a flourishing city, well-known as a successful "Convention City." It has the experience, the enthusiasm and the co-operation of its citizens in this tremendous project.

We have worked closely with our genial, experienced and efficient Director General, Lewis S. Parsons, and the thousands of loyal Nobles of El Jebel Temple. We are deeply appreciative of the enthusiastic co-operation of Governor Stephen L. R. McNichols, and that of Mayor and Noble Richard Y. Batterton.

In the interest of time and efficiency we have "streamlined" our programs so far as possible.

We pray that the Sunshine and Happiness of our Shrine may shine upon you during your visit to "Beautiful Colorado."

Cordially and sincerely yours in the Faith,

Clayton F. Andrews.

TO OUR SHRINE GUESTS:

Sixty-six years ago this month, the Imperial Council met in Denver. The host Temple -- El Jebel -- had only a few hundred members; the Shrine about 34,000 and 137 representatives sat in the one-day business meeting.

According to what we glean from the archives, it would be presumptuous to say that we will in this year of 1960 outdo the cordiality of the welcome accorded by the Denver of 1894, nor carry forward every detail of convention preparation and management with greater perfection. But, we will surely try! Virtually all of El Jebel's 8,500 Nobles have contributed in some way to the preparations for this convention and we have had magnificient support from the public of Denver and Colorado. We shall do all in our power to make the week of July 10, 1960 a memorable one for every one of you.

Sincerely yours in the Faith,

Lewis S. Parsons

EXTENDING TO YOU ...

THE FRIENDLY HAND OF FELLOWSHIP

Over a hundred years ago the cry of gold brought thousands of prospectors across the vast plains to Colorado. Most of them came in search of wealth, but many came to escape the threat of civil war and depression. They discovered a new freedom, new frontiers to conquer among the peaks and friendly foothills. This was a rugged land of adventure and temporary security.

Yes, the population of our state, the highest in the nation, was settled by hardy pioneers, men of strong character, among whom were many Masons.

The first Masonic Lodge in Colorado was established over a hundred years ago.

Colorado today is still a friendly, progressive state, welcoming many visitors to the region...for there are "no strangers" here.

Denver is today a Capitol city of adventure and excitement, a nerve center for a thriving, industrial, agricultural and recreational metropolis. Many citizens have joined hands in arranging for your activities at The Imperial Session.

I bring you Fraternal Greetings from over 47,000 Freemasons in this Grand Jurisdiction, hoping your visit here will be one of good fellowship and rewarding accomplishments. The Friendly Hand of Fellowship is extended to you and yours and we all look forward to your return.

Fraternally,

Carlton M. Ray

Grand Master

NOBLES FROM EVERYWHERE, AND YOUR LADIES:

Welcome to El Jebel!

El Jebel, in the Arabic, means "The Mountains".

You have met in the mountains of New York, Chicago and Detroit; mountains of brick, cement and steel that have created the vast canyons of great metropolitan areas. You have come now to the great Rocky Mountains which tower majestically above the great American plains--creations of the Supreme Architect of the Universe.

More than 8,500 Nobles of El Jebel extend to all of you a truly western welcome to the community of which we are so proud.

We want you to enjoy every minute of your stay in Denver and environs. It is our fond hope that most of you at least will find time during your Colorado visit to enjoy the grandeur of our Colorado mountains with their 10,000-and-one cool recesses.

The best of years to make it yours!

And at the same happy moment, Cadillac value, operating economy and dependability have combined to make the car an even wiser investment. So whatever your reasons for wanting a Cadillac—this is the year to act. Your dealer will be happy to let the car and the facts confirm this for you at any convenient time. GREETINGS TO THE NOBLES OF THE MYSTIC SHRINE:

It gives me great pleasure to welcome, on behalf of all the people of Colorado, the Shriner families attending the 86th Annual Session of the Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

We are all very pleased that this distinguished organization has selected Colorado for its 1960 meeting place -- and we know that you will find our climate and our outdoor recreational opportunities unsurpassed.

In less than an hour's drive from Denver you can find yourself among our spectacular mountains. Our state is a playground for the hiker, fisherman, hunter, camper, photographer, picknicker or auto tourist.

To make your visit to Colorado completely satisfying, I hope most of you will be able to arrive a few days before the Annual Session begins -- or stay a few days with us after it is over -- so that you and your families can enjoy a restful but exhilarating Colorado Vacation.

Best wishes for a very successful meeting --- come prepared to have a delightful time.

Sincerely,

Steve McNichols

Denver's Red Rocks Theatre One of Musical World's Great Assets

Red Rocks Amphitheatre, where a great Shrine variety show will be given the night of July 12, is synonymous with music the world over. Great artists of the United States and other nations have sung and played under a starlit sky on the stage of this amphitheatre fashioned from the majestic formations of nature reputed to be 60 million years old.

One of 28 named parks in the Mile High City's mountain park system, Red Rocks is one of the wonders of the world. Its acoustics are virtually perfect. A loud whisper on the 167-foot stage can be heard on the last row of the theatre, one-eighth mile away. The theatre seats 9,000.

Some 50 years ago, before the seats were built into the natural theatre, Melba stood on the stage and told John Brisben Walker, then sole owner of Red Rocks: "This is the greatest theatre I have ever seen." Other world-renowned stars made similar comment.

Red Rocks Theatre was completed during the depression period of the 1930's by successive groups of CCC and WPA workers at a cost of less than one million dollars.

Shriners Are Invited By Legion and Elks

The Club facilities of two nationally known organizations have been made available to all visiting Shriners during Shrine Convention Week. They are:

Leyden - Chiles - Wickersham Post No. 1 of The American Legion at 1370 Broadway. This is the largest American Legion Post in the world, and its Club in Denver is one of the finest in the Legion. The Club's dining room and grill and cocktail Lounge will be open to all Shriners and their ladies.

Denver Elks Lodge No. 17, with a Club at 14th and California in downtown Denver, will also be open to all visiting Shriners who are invited to take full advantage of its facilities.

The first Community Chest in in the United States was organized in Denver in 1887.

Church Service

Rev. Frank A. Court, Imperial Chaplain of the Shrine, will give the sermon at Imperial Council Session to be held on Sunday, July 10, at 11 a.m. in St. John's Episcopal Cathedral, East 14th Avenue between Washington and Clarkson. Noble Court is minister at St. Paul's Methodist Church in Lincoln, Nebraska.

Imperial Potentate Clayton F. Andrews urges all Shriners and their ladies who will be in Denver Sunday morning to attend.

Shrine Songsters To Give Concerts

Approximately 600 of the most melodious voices in Shrinedom will make two public appearances during the Shrine Convention in Denver.

The massed Chanters from 21 Shrine Temples will sing as a group at the opening of the brilliant pageant in the Denver University Stadium the night of Thursday, July 14. The brilliantly costumed Chanters will be only one of many groups that will add to the pomp and pageantry of the D. U. Stadium show. The Massed Chanters will give a free public concert in Denver Civic Center at 2 p.m. on July 14. And, of course, the individual Temple groups will march and sing in the day parade.

Preparatory to these two appearances, the Chanters will hold a rehearsal at the main auditorium at the American Legion Memorial Building, 1370 Broadway, at 10 a.m. Wednesday, July 13.

Members of the National Shrine Chanters Association have scheduled two social events. There will be a chuck-wagon dinner the night of July 11 at the Cherry Hills Country Club, beginning at 6:30 o'clock. On the morning of July 14, the Association will hold its annual breakfast and business meeting in the Silver Glade Room of the Cosmopolitan Hotel.

The largest individual singing group will be the famed Chanters of Medinah Temple, Chicago, 75 in number. Other Temples whose Chanters will participate in Convention activities are:

Aladdin, Columbus, Ohio; Al Bedoo, Billings, Mont.; Al Malaikah, Los Angeles; Ararat, Kansas City; Ballut Abyad, Albuquerque; El Kalah, Salt Lake City; El Karubah, Shreveport; El Maida, El Paso; El Zaribah, Phoenix; Moolah, St. Louis; Moslem, Detroit; Murat, Indianapolis; Nile, Seattle; Sesostris, Lincoln, Neb.; Syria, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Tangier, Omaha; Laarab, Atlanta; Zamora, Birmingham; Zor, Madison, Wis., and Zuhrah, Minneapolis.

Koshare Indians Will Do Great Show July 12

Shrine visitors will find two outstanding somethings on the Shrine Extravaganza scheduled for Red Rocks Ahphitheatre at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, July 12, that they can ill afford to miss.

One is the unusual Red Rocks Theatre itself, described in word and picture elsewhere in this program.

The other is the Koshare Indians of La Junta, Colorado, world's foremost Interpretive Indian dancers. The Koshares are Boy Scouts. Their performance is unique—an unforgettable spectacle.

Organized in 1933 by Indian lore addict J. F. (Buck) Burshears, the Koshare Indians have gained world-wide recognition for their interpretive Indian dances, their authentic and fabulously expensive Indian costumes.

The Koshare Indians and a dozen of the greatest units in Shrinedom, including Medinah Temple's great band and Dr. George Rhoads of Kansas City, foremost baton twirler and drum major in the land, all in picturesque Red Rocks—well, that's a must on the Shrine visitor's program.

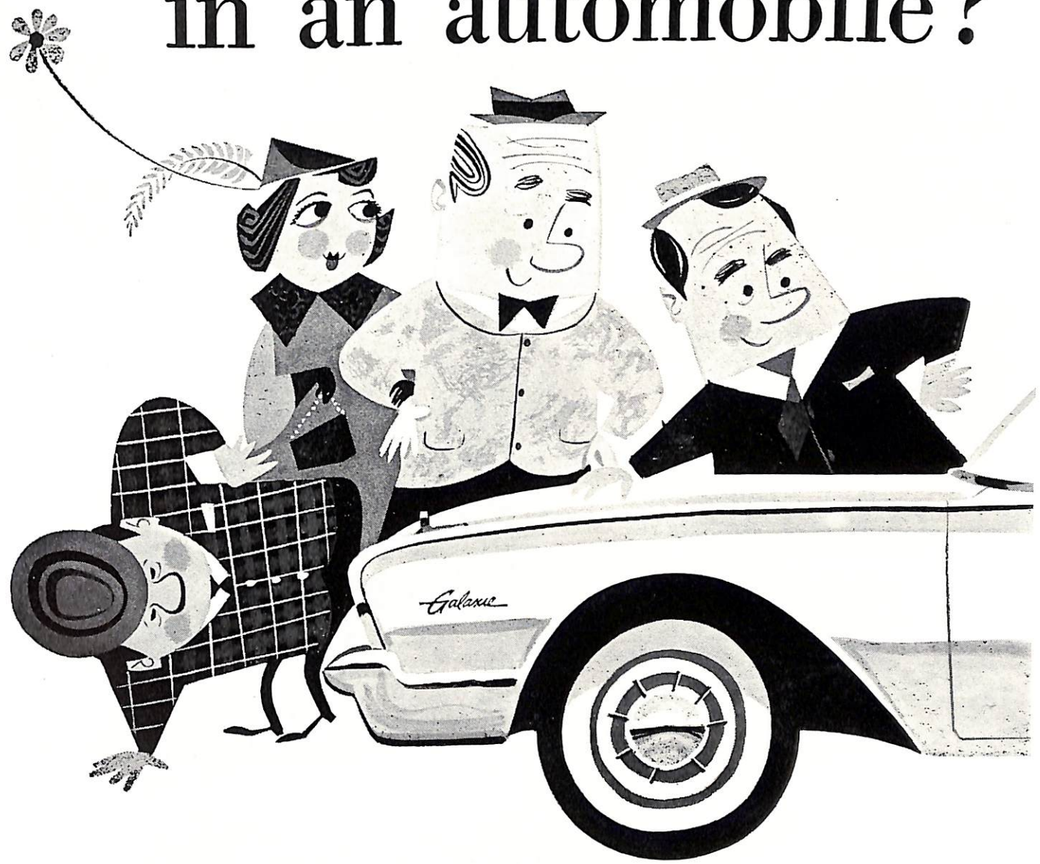
Tickets will be available at the Albany, Brown Palace, Cosmopolitan, Hilton and Shirley Savoy Hotels any time up to show time at 8 p.m., Tuesday, July 12.

Shrine Directors Will Brunch at Mt. Vernon

The Shrine Directors Association will not be busy looking for new ways to make the burning sands hotter for novices while at the Denver convention. They did that at their annual meeting in Birmingham, Ala., April 26 through 29.

But the Directors will take their fellowship to the highest possible point. They have scheduled a brunch at the Mt. Vernon Country Club for Wednesday, July 13 at 11 a.m. This club, high atop the mountains west of Denver, is one of the most picturesque in the entire nation.

What is Value in an automobile?



It's what YOU want . . . and get . . . in the Ford Family of Fine Cars

Quiz a dozen people about value in an automobile and you're likely to get a dozen different answers. Value is a personal measure. Like beauty, it's entirely "in the eyes of the beholder."

Value is styling—to some. A look of distinction. Pleasing proportions. The tasteful use of chrome. Styling as you'll find it in the 1960 Ford, Falcon, Mercury, Lincoln and Lincoln Continental.

Value is performance. A smooth ride. Ease of handling with the accent on mechanical controls. Minimum maintenance over the miles and years. The kind of performance Ford Motor Company cars have made famous.

Value is economy. Efficiency that wrings top mileage out of every drop of fuel. Dependable, thrifty operation from hard-working parts. Savings such as you've come to expect even from the mightiest of Ford Motor Company V-8 engines.

Value, of course, is much more, too. Extra comfort. Added convenience. High trade-in allowance. All these are "dividends" enjoyed by owners of our products.

What is value in an automobile? It's what you want—and get—in the Ford Family of Fine Cars.

The Glory That Is Colorado

By R. L. OLSON—Convention Publicity Director

HI, NOBLE! You're in the land of El Jebel (in Arabic "The Mountains) where a hospitable people live by their superlatives. It's the land of Kit Carson and Buffalo Bill (Noble William F. Cody of Tangier Temple); the storied land of gold and silver; of Indians, of Pikes Peak and the United States Air Academy. You're in cool, colorful Colorado, the land to which Horace Greeley referred when he admonished in his New York Tribune, "Go West, Young Man, Go West!"

A Lot of Altitude

Statistics disclose that Colorado has 75 percent of all the area in the United States, except Alaska, which is 10,000 feet or more above sea level. Mountains? Yes, Colorado has 1143 of them (including peaks) which rise to an elevation of 10,000 feet or more and of these 830 peaks tower between 11,000 and 14,000 feet while 54 are over 14,000 feet high. Although Pikes Peak is undoubtedly the best known, there are 30 peaks in Colorado higher than Pikes. Mt. Evans, 56 miles west of Denver, is 14,264 feet high and the road to its summit is the highest automobile road in the country.

Denver, one mile above sea level, is the highest metropolitan city in the country. Leadville, in west central Colorado, is two miles above sea level.

Everything Is "Super"

The lofty terrain of Colorado affords an unmatched all-season vacation land to people from all over America and foreign coun-

Pikes Peak, America's most famous mountain, is beautifully framed by two giant sandstone monoliths in the Garden of the Gods. Once a sacred Indian ceremonial ground, this colorful area is now a favorite Colorado vacation mecca. In addition to spectacular scenic vistas and interesting historical sites, one of the most popular attractions in the Colorado Springs region is the ultra-modern U. S. Air Force Academy.

tries. There is camping, fishing, hunting, and just plain loafing in the mountain area during much of the year and the best skiing in the country in wintertime.

Give the Denver Shriner a chance and he'll tell you that his fabulous city and its environs is the third fastest growing metropolitan center in the country. And he will add with no fear of successful contradiction that Denver is the cleanest metropolitan city in the U. S., has the purest water, the healthiest climate and that its friendly people are a composite of the whole nation and a goodly portion of the world for 87 percent of Denverites were born elsewhere.

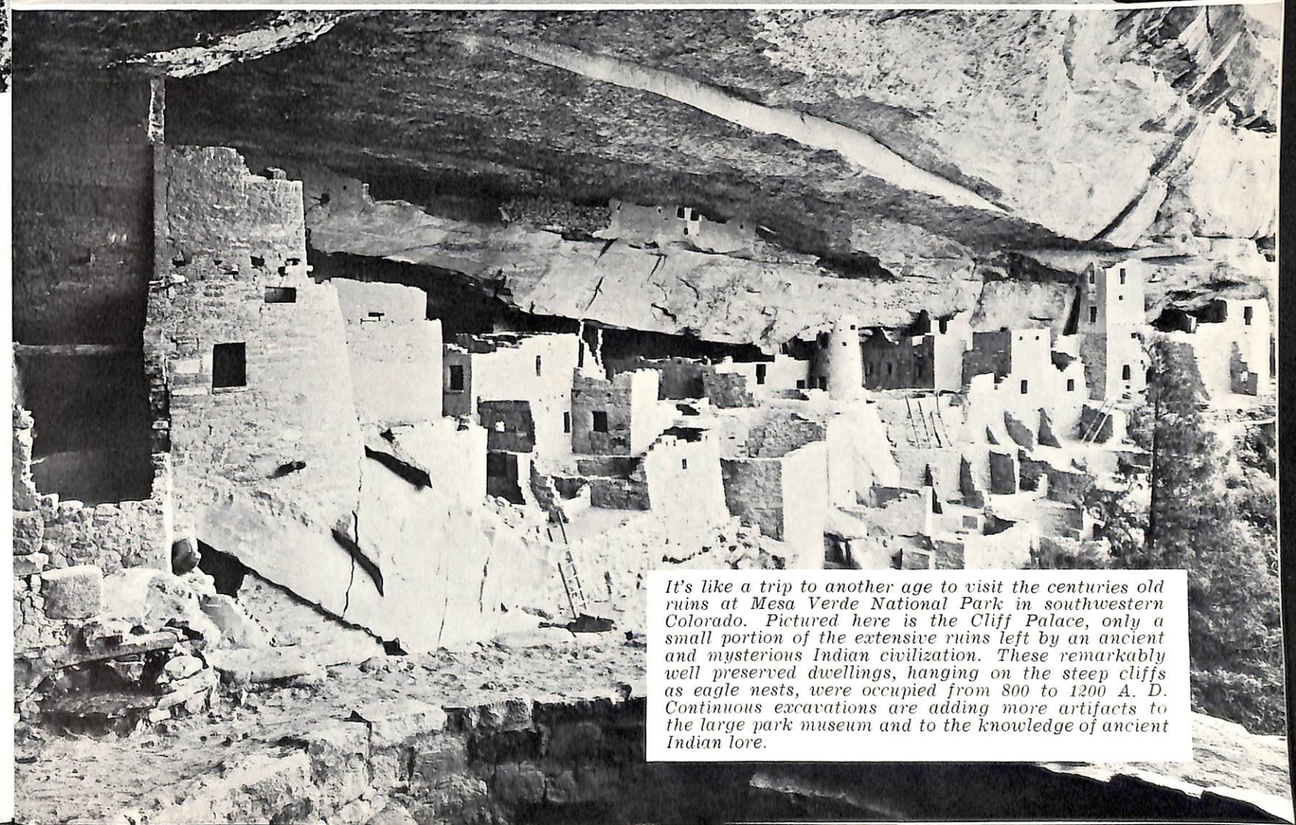
Great Sports Center

And since Denver is the mecca for visitors (also known as "tourists") from everywhere, the city has set itself up as one of the country's leading sports and recreation centers. Where else can one find such excellent golf (the National Open was held here last month); Horse Racing and Dog Racing in one and the same season; professional baseball, professional football, college athletics of all kinds; ice hockey (Denver University holds the national collegiate hockey championship); basketball (Denver is the permanent home of the annual national A A.U. tournament); boating, boxing, to say nothing of the mountain pastimes of skiing, fishing and hunting.

Denverites like to think of their town as a center of culture, too, with a generous sprinkling of firsts. Denver organized the first Community Chest in the United States in 1887. Denver's Opportunity School, founded in 1916 by the late Emily Griffith, was the first public school for adults in the United States. There will be evidence at the convention that Denver is the carnation capital of the world. The 5,000-bed Fitzsimons Hospital is the largest army hospital in the United States. The Red Rocks amphitheatre is one of the most unusual of its kind in the world.

Lest the reader gain the impression that we're boasting, this Denver Story will end here.

Happy Convention, all!



It's like a trip to another age to visit the centuries old ruins at Mesa Verde National Park in southwestern Colorado. Pictured here is the Cliff Palace, only a small portion of the extensive ruins left by an ancient and mysterious Indian civilization. These remarkably well preserved dwellings, hanging on the steep cliffs as eagle nests, were occupied from 800 to 1200 A. D. Continuous excavations are adding more artifacts to the large park museum and to the knowledge of ancient Indian lore.

YOUR RECORDER, GEORGE M. SAUNDER

What do you know about the one Noble of them all who is expected to know more about the Shrine and Shriners than any other person?

That would be genial George M. Saunders, native of Kansas City, Mo., a Noble in Ararat Temple there whose office is at the home base of the Shrine in Chicago. He, of course, is Imperial Recorder.

George served Ararat Temple as assistant Recorder from 1920 to 1934, at which time he was elected Recorder and ably served until 1948. He has served as president of the Shrine Recorders Association; was one of the organizers of the Central State Shrine Association.

Recorder Saunders is an active member of the International Supreme Council of the Order of DeMolay and an ardent worker of that boys' order since its founding in Kansas City, Mo., serving as its Grand Master, 1957-58. He served with the Allied Forces in France in the First World War and has been a member of Sanford Brown, Jr., American Legion Post since its organization date.

The Imperial Recorder's Masonic affiliations are many. He is past Master of Kadosh of the Scottish Rite as well as Past Illustrious Sovereign, Mary Conclave No. 5, Red Cross of Constantine . . . a member of the Royal Order of Scotland . . . Coroneted 33 Degree Honorary A.A.S.R. Southern Jurisdiction. He was elected Imperial Recorder of the Shrine, and secretary of Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children in 1948. George gives his time, his efforts and ability unselfishly for every cause of Masonry and Shrinedom; it is his work and his hobby.

You'll find him in Who's Who in America.

Photogs Attention!

El Jebel Optars Camera Club wish all of you Nobles and Ladies good picture taking while here. The Optars can be of assistance to you so ask us. We will be wearing yellow shirts with long sleeves and the letters, "El Jebel Optars." On the front left-hand pocket an outline of a press camera. We have important literature for you at the Imperial Headquarters, on the streets, in hotel lobbies and will try to make ourselves useful as well as ornamental.

Remember we are one mile above sea level. The light at this altitude may fool you. If you know how to use your light meters, respect them. If you are in doubt, ask us.

Your pictures will be a fine record of the Imperial Session, Denver and Colorado, and your visit here will be long remembered by your photographs of Colorful Colorado.

See the photographic exhibit in the lobby of the Denver U. S. National Tower Building, 1700 Broadway, sponsored by El Jebel Optars Camera Club and The Colorado Council of Camera Clubs.

Be sure to see the exhibit of all 17 Units of the Shriners' Hospitals for Crippled Children in the lobby of the First National Bank Building.

This is beautiful Echo Lake, another of Denver's Mountain Parks. It is sort of a half-way stop on the wide, safe highway that leads to Mt. Evans, shown in the background. Echo Lake is 10,605 feet above sea level; Mt. Evans is nearly 4,000 feet above the lake. Those who like piscatorial pursuits will be interested in knowing that some big trout are pulled out of Echo Lake.

Shrine Motor Patrols Plan Busy Convention

More than 400 Nobles in twenty Shrine Motor Corps have a busy convention program mapped out for them, according to Nobles Louis LoSasso and Fred Curtis, co-chairmen of local arrangements.

Headquarters for the motor corps members will be at 704 17th St., where hospitality headquarters will open July 11 at 4 p.m. The motorcycle and motor scooter patrols will participate in the day parade on July 12 and later in the day will hold the annual election of officers.

On July 13 the motorcycles will form a motorcade at the JCRS Center, W. Colfax and Pierce for a trip to Central City, while the motor scooter patrols will take a trip around Denver. Wives are invited to go to Central City. Cars will be provided for those who do not wish to ride the bikes. A tour of the Coors plant at Golden will be made on the return trip.

A competitive drill will be held at Elitch Gardens, West 38th & Tennyson, from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon on July 14 to which the public is invited. A buffet luncheon will be served for $1.50. The corps will all be in action again in the evening parade of July 14.

Denver has a consolidated city-county government with the mayor as top officer. San Francisco is the only other major U. S. city with this form of government. These two cities have something else in common. They are the only major cities in the country with two Scottish Rite Consistories.

Denver's Opportunity School, founded in 1916 by Emily Griffith, was the first public school for adults in the United States. It now has 4,000 students; has given practical academic training to a great many successful men and women in the community.

Denver, carnation capital of the world, supplied carnations for the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II. And, of course, to this Shrine convention.

The Denver Post Gives Shriners Fine Operetta

An Opera under the stars in Denver's picturesque, cool Cheesman Park, between East 8th and East 9th Avenues, between Franklin and Race Streets, will be one of the highlights of the Shrine Convention.

"The Merry Widow," one of the most delightful of all operettas, will be presented the night of Wednesday, July 13, through the courtesy of The Denver Post, one of the country's outstanding daily newspapers. This night has been set aside for Shriners and their ladies.

Post operas, which originated in 1934, are an annual event in Denver sponsored by Miss Helen Bonfils, secretary-treasurer of The Denver Post.

During the past 27 years, some of the country's best operettas and musicals have been presented free to the public through The Post productions, and in each production, the leading roles are assumed by the best talent available.

Great Stars Will Sing

This year "The Merry Widow" will star Earl Wrightson, Lois Hunt, Stanley Carlson, James Hawthorne and Audrey Guard.

Wrightson, who will play Prince Danilo, a romantic diplomatic officer, is famed for his many appearances on stage, screen, radio, television and in numerous American opera companies.

Miss Hunt, who has the title role of The Merry Widow herself, is a star of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Carlson is well known for his many performances on the Broadway stage. He will sing and play Ambassador Popoff.

Hawthorne, another veteran singer-actor, has the role of Camille De Jolidon, while Miss Guard, herself a well known theatrical performer, will be seen as Sylvaine.

Costumes Are All New

The entire action of "The Merry Widow" takes place in and around the Marsovian Embassy in Paris. Although it originally was premiered in Vienna in 1905, the production has been brought up to date so that the action has a 1960 setting.

Every costume in The Post presentation of "The Merry Widow" is brand new, having never been worn until dress rehearsals the week of July 3. This tradition of new costumes has kept Post operas sparkling with authenticity.

"The Merry Widow" was written by Franz Lehar, who, until the 1905 premiere, was just another musician, who had been the leader of the Austrian Infantry Band. Today, "The Merry Widow" is one of the most famous of all operettas.

The Denver Post hopes the Shriners will enjoy the show.

Colorado was granted statehood in 1876, just 100 years after the birth of American Independence. That's why it is known as the "Centennial State."

The City of Denver was named in honor of James W. Denver, governor of Kansas at the time when Colorado was a part of Kansas Territory.

The Colorado Carnation

DURING THE Shrine Convention Colorado Carnations will be much on display.

Carnations came to Colorado in the '70's, when Denver was a bustling pioneer city on the high plains. Residents who had been in the flower business in the East or in foreign lands discovered that Denver's high altitude climate, cool nights, and more than 300 sunny days a year produced an ideal growing environment for quality flowers. Because the carnation requires a great deal of sunshine and a cool growing temperature, it quickly became a favorite until, at the turn of the century, there were nearly 400,000 square feet of greenhouse glass dedicated to flower production, much of it in carnations.

Remarkable strides have been made in the production of superior flowers so that Colorado today leads the world in the growing of finest quality carnations. The equivalent of over a 100-acre farm of carnations, grown under glass, automatically watered, air-conditioned in summer and steam-heated in winter, produces more than 75 million blooms annually.

Gold Medal Colorado Carnations are America's only trademarked and only nationally advertised cut flower. They are harvested and shipped to the four corners of the United States by high speed motor freight, bus, streamlined train, and jet transport.

Their beauty and their spice-sweet fragrance have made Colorado Carnations a favorite with men and women alike. A generous supply is sent to the White House every week. The presence of Colorado Carnations on your dining table or in a corsage on milady's shoulder or handbag is indeed a mark of distinction today because these prize-winning blooms are the finest flowers grown anywhere in the world.

This is the heart of Central City, once the "richest square mile on earth," now a ghost town come alive, a center of culture and glamor. The Masons built the first Masonic Temple between the Missouri River and the Pacific Coast there in 1859. The building is still in use.

The Little Kingdom of Gilpin County

A STAY in Colorado is not complete without a visit to historic Central City, 37 miles west of Denver.

"Gold and Now Glamor" is the sub-title of booklet containing the history of Central City by Caroline Bancroft, well known Colorado historian. And therein is a story.

Central City—from its earliest days styled "The Little Kingdom of Gilpin County"—is now in the third stage of its intensely interesting history. First a booming mining town (or city, for its population was once up to 30,000) styled the "richest square mile on earth," it was only a pathetic ghost town in the post-World War I era. For 30 years now it has been a center of culture. Being something of a resurrected ghost town Central City is one of the foremost points of interest in western America.

In 1859, John Gregory, a penniless Georgian and eight fellow prospectors discovered gold in the area that became Central City. It boomed as only a western mining community boomed in the mid-19th Century. Horace Greeley, editor of the New York Tribune, was one of the first journalists to "cover" the boom. . . . W. L. Douglas tacked hobnails there before becoming a famous shoe manufacturer. . . . George M. Pullman earned enough in Central City to start his sleeping car on its way. . . . W. A. Clark, later the Montana copper king, worked there as a miner. . . . Gen. U. S. Grant visited Central City before and during his presidency.

One of the earliest groups to exert an influence in Central City was the Masons who built the first Masonic Temple between the Missouri River and Pacific Coast there in 1859.

At the height of its prosperity in 1878 Central City built an opera house for $22,000, all subscribed by its citizens, miner and business man alike. The great actors of the day played on its stage. Used as a movie house in 1918 the opera house was only another abandoned building about to be sold to satisfy a mortgage in 1929 when a visitor from New Orleans saw it and suggested the great possibility of making it a summer playhouse. It was turned over to the University of Denver and later to the Central City Opera Association. Central City and its opera house is now a summer festival community which draws the best actors and performers on the American stage each summer for drama and opera. The great operas, Aida, and Lucia di Lammermoor, will be playing in Central City during the Shriners' stay in Colorado.

Jim Shoulders, Champ Cowboy, Will Produce Shrine Rodeo, July 11

THE SHRINE championship Rodeo July 11, 12 and 13 will give a distinctly western flavor to the excellent and highly diversified program of public entertainment during the 86th Imperial Convention. Performances will be given at 8 P.M. on these days with a matinee on Wednesday, July 13 at 1 P.M. The place: Jefferson County Fairgrounds Arena which is especially constructed for Rodeo. Go west on 6th Ave., out of Denver nine miles from the city limits.

Sponsored by the 1960 Imperial Council Session, Inc., the Shrine Championship Rodeo is produced by Jim Shoulders, the "winningest cowboy to ever enter the rodeo arena." Sixteen times a world's champion, more titles than any three other cowbows have ever mustered. Shoulders will bring his rodeo bucking stock to the Denver Arena to challenge the world's greatest rodeo athletes. These professional cowboy athletes will compete in the five standard rodeo events; Brahma Bull Riding, Saddle Bronc Riding, Calf Roping, Steer Wrestling and Bareback Riding. Officially approved by the Rodeo Cowboy's Association, the points won in the Shrine Championship Rodeo will help to determine the 1960 World's Champion in each of these events.

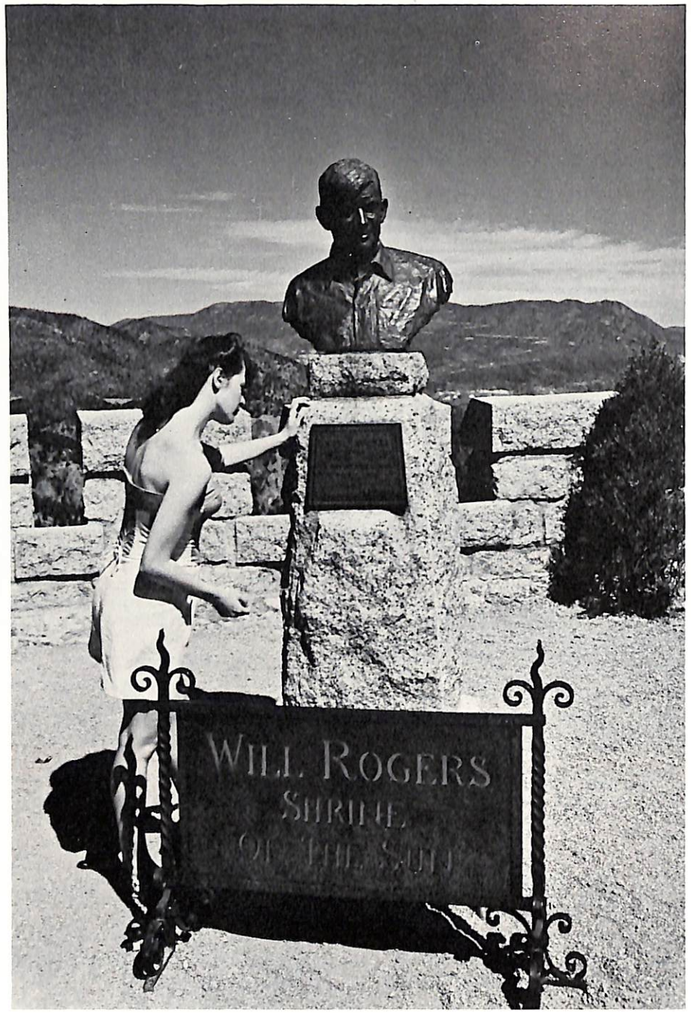
Besides the cowboys, the beautiful cowgirls of the Girl's Rodeo Association will compete in barrel racing for $500 in prize money.

Between the contest events, there will be a variety of Western entertainment offered by the nationally famous Westernaires, a precision mounted patrol of teen-age boys and girls to Lakewood, Colo.

In addition, Champion Jim Shoulders will make a personal appearance to entertain and enthrall the audience with some of his bag of tricks, learned while earning more than $400,000 in rodeo prize moneys in the past 16 years. He will give each and every spectator the opportunity to experience the thrills and chills of riding a wild bucking bronc without the danger of climbing into the chute.

Tickets can be purchased in every large downtown hotel and at the rodeo grounds. City bus transportation is available directly to the rodeo grounds.



Memorial Honors Noble Will Rogers

The Will Rogers Memorial, atop Cheyenne Mountain in the Broadmoor section of metropolitan Colorado Springs, is visited each year by many thousands of citizens from all parts of the United States as well as foreign countries. It is of special significance to Shriners for the late, great humorist, Will Rogers, had been a Noble in Akdar Temple of Tulsa, Okla., from his induction in 1914 until his untimely death. In the picture above a pretty, thinly-clad lass, reads the inscription on the plaque designating the memorial.

UNITED STATES AIR FORCE ACADEMY

IN THE SHADOW of the beautiful Rampart Range with world-renowned Pike's Peak as a backdrop stands the Nation's newest great defense establishment, the United States Air Force Academy. Located eight miles north of Colorado Springs and 60 miles south of Denver this ultra-modern physical plant, where future leaders of the air age from every state are now being trained, nestles in many ravines of the picturesque 17,500-acre military reservation.

And with the building of the Academy, Colorado gained, among other great advantages, another outstanding attraction for visitors within her borders. A normal interest, tradition and sentiment sent millions of Americans over the years to West Point and Annapolis to see the great service leaders. Now, millions will be visiting the newest of the great military leadership training centers. And among them, surely, will be thousands of Shriners and their ladies.

Many of America's pioneer airmen, among them General William Mitchell, advocated the creation of an academy to prepare officers especially for the Air Service. Thus, the authorization of the Air Force Academy in 1954 by the 83rd Congress was the realization of the dreams of a number of farsighted men.

Talbott Picks Colorado

Harold E. Talbott, then Secretary of the Air Force, appointed a distinguished commission to assist him in selecting the permanent site. After traveling 20,000 miles and visiting proposed sites in 22 states, this commission recommended locations near Colorado Springs, Colo., Alton, Ill., and Lake Geneva, Wis. From them Secretary Talbott selected the site at the foot of the Rocky Mountains near Colorado Springs.

While construction began at the permanent site, the Academy was established at an interim site on Lowry Air Force Base in Denver under the supervision of the late Lt. Gen. Hubert R. Harmon, the first Superintendent. On his retirement in 1956, he was succeeded by Maj. Gen. James E. Briggs. The present Superintendent is Maj. Gen. William S. Stone.

The Air Force Cadet Wing, dressed in summer whites, marches onto the parade ground at the new home of the Air Force Academy.

Three small classes of approximately 300 cadets each entered the Academy during the first three years of its existence, and another class of 454 entered in the summer of 1958. Full sized classes of approximately 750 cadets each began entering in the summer of 1959. By 1962 the Air Force Cadet Wing will reach its full authorized strength of 2,550, the same as the Corps of Cadets at West Point.

Studies Are Balanced

The four-year academic curriculum is designed to provide a foundation for further development in any of the numerous fields open to Air Force officers. It is neither an engineering nor a liberal arts program, but combines certain elements of both. Studies are balanced between the social sciences and the humanities, on the one hand and the basic and applied sciences, on the other. In September 1958, a new Department of Astronautics began teaching cadets the fundamental physics of manned and unmanned flight through space.

Shriners of America First Enthralled Denver at 1894 Imperial Council Session

By R. L. Olson
Convention Publicity Director

GROVER CLEVELAND was President of the United States. The tariff and bi-metalism were the hottest political issues and the Populists were a political party. There had been a panic (not a depression) the year before. Cadillac and Pontiac were only French and Indian names respectively and Henry Ford was a mechanic back in Detroit. Only birds flew in the air, not airplanes. Radio and television were 25 and 50 years away, respectively, and air conditioning wasn't even a dream. Denver had street cars and board sidewalks but no paved streets.

But people were gay for it was in the Gay '90s. It was July 1894 and the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine of North America came to Denver for their 20th annual Imperial Council Session. What sort of an affair was it? Was it a spectacular event that drew public attention in proportion to this year's 86th annual session and attendant public events?

It was indeed! There are no living witnesses among the Shriners but the Denver daily newspapers of the time on file in the State Historical Society bear mute but eloquent testimony to prove that Denver was as much agog over the Shrine convention of 66 years ago as she is today over the 1960 convention.

El Jebel Was Only Six

Remember that the Shrine in 1894 was only 20 years old and had about 34,000 members in 64 Temples. And the host, our beloved El Jebel Temple, was but a spunky six-year-old, afire with the vibrant spirit of what was destined to be the greatest of all fraternities.

A special train started in New York, picking up Shriners and their ladies at stops en route. Delegations from other points just "took the train" to Denver. There was no other way to get here and be on time.

Nobles from everywhere began to arrive on Sunday, July 22, 1894 and by Monday everybody was in the convention city. The Rocky Mountain News, only one of the dailies of that time alive today, reported that "over 1200 footsore Shriners made the trek over the desert" (Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, et al) to Denver. The Brown Palace was headquarters hotel, as it is today, and the visitors marveled at its unusual lobby, as they do now. Virtually all of the representatives were quartered in the Brown Palace or the Windsor. The weather was hot but easterners thought it was cool.

A Lively Election

Business sessions of the Imperial Council were held in the Masonic Temple, Welton at 16th, today still the home of many Masonic units and the business office of El Jebel. It was a one-day convention with 137 Nobles as accredited representatives. It was a hot convention, not all of it occasioned by Denver's midsummer weather. There was the matter of an election of officers as the last order of business. A somewhat bitter contest for Imperial Potentate had its roots nearly two years before.

Noble William B. Melish of Syrian Temple, Cincinnati, had been elected Imperial Potentate in Omaha, Aug. 16, 1892. During his term of office he clashed with Imperial Recorder Frank Luce of Medinah Temple, Chicago. The Potentate suspended Luce. This action divided the sympathizers of both Nobles with the result that Melish was defeated in his try for re-election at the 1893 council session.

Melish and his friends of Syrian Temple, described by the papers as a fine appearing group of business men, came to Denver for vindication. He entered the race for Imperial Potentate against Charles L. Field of Islam Temple, San Francisco, then the Deputy Imperial Potentate. When the ballots were counted at 1:30 a.m. July 25, Melish had gained his "vindication" for he defeated Field, 72 to 65.

One Term for Potentate

But here ended what could have been a long-standing feud between factions. Field moved to make Melish's election unanimous. The motion was seconded by Frank Luce, who was removed from office by Melish. This convention developed the sentiment, later to become law, that an Imperial Potentate could not succeed himself.

The parade held the night of July 24 must have been one of the most spectacular processions in Denver's history in an era when a parade was a parade. The Imperial Potentate rode in a carriage drawn by six horses. There were five divisions. The News reported that the hosts of El Jebel were so great that they had to be split into two battalions.

Noble Wolfe Londoner, merchant and former mayor of Denver, was described by The Republican as the funniest object in the parade. He was astride a real live camel imported from the "Oasis of Elitch."

Shriners of 1894 must have been a durable lot. Look at this line of march, a distance of 3½ miles: From 18th on Glenarm to 14th; down 14th to Larimer; thence to 18th; up 18th to Arapahoe; along Arapahoe to 16th; all the way up 16th to Broadway; thence north to 19th; counter-marching back to 17th; down 17th to Curtis; along Curtis to 16th and up 16th to the Masonic Temple at the corner of Welton.

But not everyone finished. The papers reported that a good many broke ranks when the counter-marchers reached the corner of 17th and Broadway and headed for an "oasis" in the Brown Palace.

El Jebel Initiates Sixty

El Jebel "had the greatest night in its experience" reported one paper in referring to a ceremonial the night of July 23 when 60 brave and sturdy novices trod the burning sands—a mighty big class for that day and time. The initiation followed by the banquet "kept all busy until daylight" the paper said.

DENVER WELCOMES THE SHRINERS

Denver gave the wearers of the Red Fez the red carpet treatment 66 years ago as Shriners from 64 Temples came to the Mile High City for the 20th annual Imperial Council Session held July 24, 1894. The daily newspapers, copies of which are on file in the State Historical Society, reflect the enthusiasm and cordiality with which the city received the Nobility. The above drawing, which appeared on the front page of The Denver Republican issue of July 22, 1894, was a typical gesture.

History will repeat itself in more ways than one as Shriners from afar gather this week in Denver.

The papers reported that Imperial Potentate Thomas J. Hudson, of Syria Temple, Pittsburgh, Pa., arrived with great fanfare and registered at the Brown Palace. Imperial Sir Clayton F. Andrews of Sesostris Temple, Lincoln, will have done likewise before this will be read by many. Ill. Hudson was assistant postmaster of Pittsburgh at the time he entered Denver's portals.

Great Newspaper Coverage

Many extra-curricular activities were crowded into the three days that the Shriners were in Denver. The newspapers did a marvelous job of covering them. The Rocky Mountain News did the best, devoting a total of 544 column inches to the Shrine in four days. The Denver Republican carried 394 column inches and the evening Times-Sun, 300 inches. The columns were wider than daily newspaper columns are today.

Two of the papers printed the names of all delegates, their wives, and their Temples. All three papers carried a great deal of "art," not pictures but cartoons and line drawings. One reporter and artist found Noble James A. Fox, ex-mayor of Cambridge, Mass., past potentate of Aleppo Temple, who so closely resembled Pres. Grover Cleveland that one could hardly detect a difference.

It is interesting to compare the style of reporting and editing with today's journalism. Here are some of the heads over Shrine stories, most of them on Page 1: "Zem Zem, Yum, Yum," "Oh Ye Hadjis." "Besmaillah!" "Over the Sands," "All Thirst," "Opening the Wells" and "Thy Paths Peace."

The ladies were tendered a grand reception at the Brown Palace while the Nobles were in session. W. W. Anderson was Illustrious Potentate of El Jebel at the time and was in charge of convention arrangements.

So much for the past. Now, let's enjoy this year's convention.

Two Denver Nobles Served the Shrine as Imperial Potentates

EL JEBEL, convention host in 1894 and 1960, was one of 12 Temples chartered by the Imperial Council on June 25, 1888. Although the charter dates are identical, the dispensation date in each case was applicable so El Jebel is the 39th Temple to be chartered. El Jebel's "double sextuplet brothers" in order of their charter number, are Jerusalem, New Orleans; Rameses, Toronto, Can.; Hella, Dallas; Sesostris, Lincoln; Kismet, Brooklyn; Ismailia, Buffalo; Ararat, Kansas City; Al Malaikah, Los Angeles; Algeria, Helena, Mont.; Morocco, Jacksonville, Fla., and El Riad, Sioux Falls, S. D.

From the very date of its inception El Jebel moved into a sphere of influence and activity in the Imperial Council. Witness: When the Denver Temple was but five years old in 1893, its leaders wangled the convention for the following year. That was no ordinary feat for Denver was looked upon in those days as only an outpost in a yet untamed wild west and no Shrine convention had ventured as far west as the Rocky Mountains.

El Jebel quickly followed up this achievement by having one of its early leaders—undoubtedly "the" leader—elected Imperial Potentate in June 1897, the seventh man ever to hold the highest office within the gift of the Shrine. He was Albert B. McGaffey, prominent Denver businessman, first Illustrious Potentate of El Jebel and from the temple's beginning a leader in both Denver and the Imperial Council. He served 41 continuous years as El Jebel's representative on the Imperial Council, and never missed an annual session of the Council.

The second Noble of El Jebel to attain the high office of Imperial Potentate was James C. Burger, prominent Denver banker, who was the Temple's Potentate in 1912, the Imperial head in 1925. Noble Burger was highly respected throughout the Shrine for his ability and financial know-how. So it was in 1928 that he was selected Imperial Treasurer of the Shrine in which position he served with honor until his death in 1937. Noble Burger had been vice-president of the Denver National Bank.

And today there is Lew Parsons. Active in the Temple for almost 40 years, he was Illustrious Potentate on 1935. He has served sixteen years as Temple representative on the Imperial Council and has been finance chairman of the council during the last five years. When Denver was chosen for this year's convention, who but Colonel Lewis S. Parsons would supervise the tremendous task of preparation as Director General of the 1960 Imperial Council Session, Inc.

"I know you'll pardon us if we boast a little," commented El Jebel's Illustrious Potentate Robert P. (Bob) Martin. We're proud of our Temple and its Nobles, past and present."
